Third Party Notification

IF EVERYONE in your household is 65 years of age or older, you can have a copy of past-due notices sent to a relative, friend, member of the clergy, doctor or social service agency. This could help you if you forget to pay your bill, if you do not understand it or if you become ill. The person you choose is not obligated to pay your gas bill.

If you want another person, or a “third party,” to receive your gas bills and past-due notices, fill out Sections A and B on the attached card. Then sign it and drop it in the mail.

B.

Third Party Notification

Please send copies of my past-due notices to:

Person/Agency (third party)

Street address

City/Town State Zip Code

I understand that this third party is NOT responsible for paying my gas bills.
